

FENTANYL FACTS

What is fentanyl?

Fentanyl is a powerful synthetic opioid causing an increasing number of drug overdoses.

It has no taste or smell and it can be added into pills and powders being sold as different drugs. Fentanyl can cause people to stop breathing within moments.

How to stay safe:

Don't rely on your source. Knowing where your drugs come from doesn't mean they're safe. Pills sold on the street and online can unknowingly contain fentanyl.

Know the signs of an overdose. They include: not being able to respond or wake up, slow or no breathing, making gurgling sounds, having blue or gray skin and lips.

Don't use pills or drugs alone. During an overdose, you can't call for help or use Narcan on yourself.

Call for help. Always call 911- the law protects you if you seek help in drug related overdoses.

Carry Narcan. This safe and legal overdose reversal medication is available from any pharmacist, and saves lives!
